The use of Ayer's Sarssparilla. One bottle may not cure "right off" a complaint of years; persist until cure is effected. As a general rule improvement follows shortly after beginning the use of this medicine. With many people the effect is immediately noticeable; but some constitutions are less susceptible to medicinal influences than others, and the curative process may, therefore, in such cases be less prompt. Perseverance in using this remedy is sure of its reward at last. Sooner or later the most stubborn blood discases yield to Humiliated at the outcome the young man declined to accept the invitation of a party of friends to join them at an ice cream party, but went home, where he procured a revolver and put an end to his life. THOUSANDS OF DOLLARS FOUND. An Unexpected Discovery Made on Examining a Dead Man's Trunk.

Yesterday afternoon the attention of two STAR reporters was attracted to four gentlemen entering a carriage on D street between the Police Court and police headquarters. Two of these bore a weighty bundle between them and the others had in their hands packages of paper and account books. This scene, coupled with some talk during the past few days that one of the party had found a large lot of money. caused some inquiry. It was learned that it was desired to keep the matter quiet until a full inventory was taken and the money dehaving lived there many years and who was supposed to have been in only mode-rate circumstances. Shortly after his death, he having brothers and sisters to whom the estate should go, a petition for letters of administration was fited in the case that he had eft but a few hundred dollars. Messrs. Randall, Hagner and F. H. Mackey, acting for the relatives made an investigation, having first given bond as administrators of the estate in the sum of $20,000. They then took an inventory of the effects. In the pockets of the dead man's pantaloons was found nearly $100 in the fractional currency issued during the war. In this trunk was found about $13,000, $2,700 in gold, between $800 and $900 in silver, in half dimes, dimes, quarters. &c., much of it of a coinage over half a century ago. There were some bonds also, among them a $100 Northern Pacific railroad bond issued in 1873, to which all the coupons are attached. Mr. Askins, it is thought, kept his money in his trunk because he lost $1,000 by the suspension of Cooke & Co. in 1873. The money and papers were yesterday safely deposited in one of the banks of LIVE CAPITOL TOPICS. Fourthcoming Reports on the Pacific Railroad Funding Bill-Other Matters.

The House committee on Pacific railroads has finally decided to report favorably to the House the Pacific railroad funding bill, which it has had under consideration for several months. The bill reported will be a substitute for the Vandever bill; but this substitute is really the bill reported by the Senate The vote on reporting the bill was 7 to 4, and one member refrained from casting his vote on the ground that he was not fully informed upon the subject. The report will be made by Mr. Miles of Connecticut, and the chairman, Mr. Daizell, will present the views of the minority. Both reports are to be submitted to the committee at the next meeting before presentation to the House. The bili referred to covers the Union Pacific and Central Pacific railroads, the former being allowed fifty years for the funding, with interest at 3 per cent, and the latter seventy-five years, with interest at 2 per cent.

CAPT. M'CALLA'S SENTENCE. It is Said He Will be Suspended for Three Years.

THE FARMERS' APPEAL. He Hangs Himself After Biting a Child | What the Alliance Says in Behalf of the Grain Treasury Plan.

HEARING BEFORE THE WAYS AND MEANS COM-MITTEE TODAY-MR. LIVINGSTONE CLAIMS THAT MANY EVILS MAY BE DONE AWAY WITH BY THIS

Congressmen from agricultural states and friends of the Farmers' Alliance crowded the ways and means committee room at the Capitol today to hear Mr. Livingstone, the national lecturer of the alliance, expound his views on the Bickler bill for the establishment of subtreasuries for the deposit of grain, oats, corn, tobacco and cotton.

Mr. Livingstone said there need be no mis apprehension concerning the objects of the alliance. It was not seeking to displace the ruling political parties. The subtreasury bill had nothing to do with the tariff. The farmers asked that the subtreasury bill be passed. Fifty-eight homes of farmers had been sold in Connecticut in one day this week. Relief was demanded and the farmers knew how to get it. Farmers, he said, had to secure loans at excossive rates of interest. There was no justification for that under God's broad heaven.

Mr. Livcommittee amended in some respects. ing tore replied that he did not; there was difference between watered stock concerns my15 THE SWIFT SPECIFIC CO., Atlanta, Ga. and the farmer's real estate, yet the latter was made the worst security in the country. He quoted President Lincoln's prediction that corporations would be enthroned, that the property of the country would be concentrated and that the republic itself would be over-thrown. He thanked God that the last prediction had not come true. If Congress refused to indorse the subtreasury plan, he said, it should remove the restrictions hedging in the nat onal banking system. A CHANCE TO ESCAPE THE SPECULATOR.

The subtreasury plan gave the farmer a chance to escape the speculator by allowing him to deposit his crops in the subtreasuries at would not be a bucket shop left in the United states. There need be no fear that the bill would cause the farmers to form a trust, It was against the farmer's nature—he had to eighth of a cent every farmer would be seen nitching up his team the next morning. He would be afraid that one-eighth of a cent would get away from him. Then the farmers would had twenty years. NOT A PERFECT MEASURE.

This plan was not held out as a perfect measure. All legislation was the result of compromise. The gentleman from New York (Mr. Flower) had predicted that the children would the men under a paternal government would be too lazy to work. Mr. Flower-Look at Germanwtoday.

Mr. Livingstone denied that such a result would follow. Could there be a government more paternal than ours—paternal to the banks he meant. He did not favor a paternal government. In conclusion he said that if the committee thought that the landed basis was the best, if they could not accept the crop basis, let them put it in. Do something to relieve the farmer. Report the bill to the House in some shape so that it could be acted upon. Don't make it a question of tariff or of politics, but let the bill stand on its merits.
